Absentee voting machine now up

Voters who will be out of the county on primary election day, May 19, are now eligible to vote on the absentee machine in the county clerk's courthouse office. Voting is available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday and Friday and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Voter registration has closed for the primary election, with Republicans holding a slight advantage over Democrats in Crittenden County. As of last Thursday, there were 3,100 registered with the GOP and 3,021 with the Democratic Party.

There are a total of 5,380 registered voters in the county, but only Republicans and Democrats are eligible to vote in this month's primary. Other registrations include: Other, 300; Independent, 159; Libertarian, 9; and Social Workers Party, 1.

MPD hires local man to join force

Marion Police Department has hired a new patrolman.

Keith Suits, 30, joined the department last week. He is a former policeman for the City of Princeton, where he had worked for nearly two years.

Suits lives in rural Crittenden County near Fredonia. He has two children. The officer has experience in corrections as well as law enforcement. Prior to becoming a policeman, he worked at the Western Kentucky Correctional Complex, formerly known as the Fredonia Farm Center.

Suits grew up in Lola and attended schools in Livingston and Crittenden counties.

The city's police department now has six full-time officers, including the police chief.

Closings

The offices of Crittenden County Circuit Clerk and Sheriff will be closed on Saturday. They will also be closed June 20.

Meetings

- Crittenden County Election Board will meet at 9 a.m. Friday in the basement of the county clerk's office for its regular meeting and to certify voting machines for the May 19 primary election.

- Livingston County Board of Education will meet for its monthly meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the library of Livingston Central High School in Smithland.

- Crittenden County Board of Education will meet for its monthly board meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the conference room of Rocket Arena.

Red ink fading at jail

STAFF REPORT

With two months left in its fiscal year, Crittenden County Detention Center is on course to streamline its red ink.

Ten months into the current budget cycle, the jail is operating on $20,000 per month less than the previous fiscal year. Jailer Robbie Kirk attributes the improved financial condition to a variety of factors, largely increased housing revenue and a reduced staff.

Crittenden County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom said the jail's revenue and spending have been coming closer together over the past couple of years, but it's still a major cost to the county. The county judge applauds the work of the new jailer and the previous interim jailer to improve the financial stability of one of the county's costliest endeavors.

Kirk

Jails typically eat up large sums of cash from every county. Before opening the new $7.6 million jail in Marion, the county was pouring almost $300,000 a year into a much smaller lock-up that employed far fewer deputies and provided no work-release program. Kirk said the inmate work programs provide tens of thousands of dollars worth of labor to the community each year.

"The county will have to supplement the jail budget with one more substantial amount of money for a loan payment that is coming up, but the jail is definitely on track to receive fewer dollars of assistance than in the past few years," said Newcom.

Kirk was elected jailer last fall and took over just days after the election, when interim Jailer Phil Parker resigned. Parker had been recruited to fill a void left by the early retirement of the Jailer Rick Riley, who has since passed away.

Kirk said Parker, a former Kentucky State Penitentiary warden, had the jail headed in the right direction. Jail staff, Kirk added, has made continued improvements that should save the county several thousand dollars this year and well into the future.

"Mr. Parker had made adjustments during his tenure that reduced the amount of assistance needed and Mr. Kirk has continued that trend," Newcom added. "Mr. Kirk and his entire staff are to be

2014-15 school year nearing end

Payton Purvis (left) and Hayden Adamson raise the American flag as part of the morning ritual at Crittenden County Elementary School. Students have less than a month to go before summer break. In fact, as of today (Thursday) there are only 16 days of classroom instruction remaining.

The final day of classes in Crittenden County will be May 29. Following is the schedule for special end-of-year activities:

- Fifth-grade graduation, May 21.
  - Eighth-grade graduation, May 26.
  - High school baccalaureate services, May 27.
  - High school class night, May 28.
  - High school graduation, May 29.
- All events begin at 6 p.m.

Abbreviated fall break OK'd by board of ed

STAFF REPORT

It looks as if Old Man Winter is eventually going to affect fall break in Crittenden County.

At last month's Crittenden County Board of Education meeting on April 28, school officials approved a plan that would eliminate two days of fall break beginning in the 2016-17 school year. This will change the start date of fall break to a Wednesday, allowing for just three days of vacation. School officials said many other school districts use varying schedules for the number of days taken for fall break.

Superintendent of Schools Vince Clark said the district's calendar committee met last month and provided two different calendars for its classified staff, teachers and administrators to view and vote on.

Because the last two winters have created a large number of missed days of instruction, snow

ECSI move not end of fluorspar hopes

STAFF REPORT

The company that spearheaded fluorspar exploration here three years ago is moving out of its warehouse at the former Southern States building on West Gum Street, but ECSI Vice President Jeff Baird says his consulting and engineering firm is neither leaving the area nor giving up on the spar project.

Baird confirmed last week that the company's lease has run out on the warehouse where it was keeping about 50,000 linear feet of core samples taken from the area during drilling in 2012. Baird said those samples belong to Bill Frazer, a local geologist who was instrumental in getting the project started.

Baird

Frazer said he is donating the samples to the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky Geological Survey, which will use them for educational purposes.

Fluorspar mining was very prevalent in the county in the early to mid-1900s.

The company that was financially backing exploration here in 2012 has long since left the table, but Baird said other investors are show-

V-E Day: Locals recall memories, emotions of May 8, 1945

Memories trapped in the mind may have faded a bit with the passing of the years, but the emotions felt in the heart still burn strong.

V-E Day. After 1,244 days at war with Hitler's Third Reich and more than 200,000 dead in theater, World War II in Europe was finally over for America.

On May 8, 1945, German soldiers laid down their arms throughout the continent, surrendering to the Allies, and Victory in Europe Day was celebrated around the globe. There were people marching in the streets and embracing one another. There were raucous celebrations and quiet reflections.

Friday will mark the 70th anniversary of V-E Day, and across our county, hearts and minds turn back the clock to that day.

"It was a wonderful feeling," said Maxine (Bebout) Croft of Tolu, who was only 15 the day the war ended in Europe.

She, like so many others in Crittenden County, was greatly affected by the war.

A year earlier, she lost a cousin to the war - Guy Edward Hodge, who was killed in Normandy, France. Her older brother, Haynes Melvin Bebout, was drafted into the Army and her future husband, Thomas Croft, was also a soldier.

"I think every family was affected in some way," Maxine said of the war.

Her bookend memories of the war start with the funeral of Thomas Collins, a sailor killed aboard the USS Downes at Pearl Harbor when the United States was first plunged into World War II. Her family, the Bebouts, had been close friends with the Collins family in their Chapel Hill neighborhood. She recalls being overwhelmed with emotion as "Taps" was played at the military funeral in Wheatcroft.

"It made cold chills run up and down my back."

Soon after, Maxine and her family would leave the farm in Crittenden County for Evansville, Ind., where her father worked at Briggs Manufacturing Co., which made aircraft parts for the war effort. The production of war materiel helped American families like the Bebouts emerge from The Great Depression with steady work.

"We were living there when the war was over," Maxine said, harkening back to the moment they all learned of the news of victory against the Germans. "All the factories blew their emergency signals."

After years of rationing and the uncertainty the war brought, the moment was not lost on the teenager.

"It was a terrible time for nearly every family, because we lost so many loved ones," she said. "When it was over, we rejoiced."

Though the war in the Pacific against Japan would

Ponds, ditches lastest EPA targets

By now, most Kentuckians know that the Obama administration and its Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) are waging a War on Coal here in the commonwealth. What many don't know is that the EPA is waging another war simultaneously – one that threatens to bring the heavy hand of the federal government into nearly every backyard and business.

The danger: a regulation known as “Waters of the U.S.” that would classify nearly all wetlands – including small ponds and ditches – as “navigable” waters, and thus subject to interference by Washington bureaucrats. If the regulation takes effect, it would wreak havoc on the coal, agriculture, commercial development, real estate, construction and contracting industries statewide. It would be detrimental to traditional farming practices. And it would trample the private property rights of individual Kentuckians.

By expanding the definition of a wetland, the EPA aims to subject vast new areas in Kentucky to its will. The regulation will trigger confusing requirements that property owners obtain even more permits – on top of those permits they are already responsible for – before undertaking new construction.

Forcing more areas that were not previously regulated to go through the EPA permitting process just because there are ditches or streams on the property will only discourage new construction by the individual property and business owners. This hurts job creation, as many property owners across various industries will choose to forego new projects due to the uncertainty and hassle caused by the EPA.

Imposing this time-consuming EPA permitting process on more property owners will also slow down the rate of permit approvals, which means even more disincentive to grow businesses and create more jobs.

Moreover, the regulation is an affront to private property rights, as it restricts what property owners can or can't do on their own land. Claiming EPA jurisdiction over an area of private property just because a small pond or ditch is there is ridiculous. If the EPA can do this, what can't it do?

I've heard from constituents across the state who are worried about what this proposed regulation could mean for them, their property or their business. The Kentucky Farm Bureau has said it would hurt the farming and agriculture industries. The Kentucky Corn Growers say they can't afford it. I agree. This proposed regulation represents a serious threat to our economy and our liberties as property owners.

That's why I'm determined to stop it. I've co-sponsored a bill in the U.S. Senate to halt this regulation, and I'll continue to fight for its passage.

The EPA has caused serious damage in our state with its War on Coal. As Senate Majority Leader, I've fought it at every turn. I'll bring the same fight to waters of the U.S. This is a promise I campaigned on last year, and it's a promise I intend to keep.

(Editor's note: U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell, a Louisville Republican, is serving his sixth term on Capitol Hill. He

JAIL

At the end of April, through the first 10 months of the fiscal year, the county had supplemented the jail's budget in the amount of $368,500. A year previous, to that date, the figure was $203,500 higher at $572,000.

“The jail is making steps and progressing in the right direction,” said Kirk, a former state police detective and private investigator.

In Fiscal Year 2013-14, Crittenden Fiscal Court poured $667,000 into the jail's budget in order to make sure the county-operated facility made ends meet. That was a bit higher than previous years. Kirk hopes to one day see the jail break even without having to be supplemented by local taxpayers.

“People didn't think either myself or Daniel Kemper (the other candidate for jailer in last November's general election) had the connections to keep this jail full,” Kirk said last week. “Well, right now, I wish we had more beds.”

Since becoming jailer just more than five months ago, the number of inmates housed at the facility has risen and remained steadily higher than previous averages. The bulk of the jail's income comes from convicted Class D felons from across the state. The commonwealth pays the jail $31.34 per day for each inmate Crittenden County keeps. Other area jails pay just $25 a day for the local jail to keep their inmates, but federal inmates earn the county jail more, $35 per day.

“I think the jailer's role is to increase revenue as well as cut costs,” Kirk said.

Through the first three months of 2015, the jail averaged 143 inmates per day. For the same period last year, the number was 10 fewer. For that same time period, revenue has been up more than $25,000 from the previous year.

Although the jail's capacity is generally considered

133, temporary beds called “boats” are moved to empty floor space in order to keep more inmates, particularly on Saturdays and Sundays when people are serving sentences on weekends only.

Most of them are put into what's commonly known as the “drunk tank” or “party room.” It's kind of comical that offenders are figuratively spending their weekends with drunks on boats in the party room.

“Trust me though,” Kirk says, “it's no party.”

And, they're required to pay up front to stay for the weekend. That hasn't always been the case, the jailer said.

Kirk said Class D Inmate Coordinator Athena Abshire and purchasing agent Mindy Withrow keep the income and expenses under a microscope.

In addition to making sure the inn is full, Kirk said some outstanding debt owed to the jail is now being collected at a greater rate. Instead of contracting a collections agency to track down bad debt, Kirk said County Attorney Rebecca Johnson has been helping the jail force court-ordered housing fees from previous inmates to be paid, or else those people will be sent back to jail.

On the expense side, Kirk said a commode diaphragm that was costing the jail $50 has been found from a new supplier for $10.

“You wouldn't believe how many of them we go through because inmates stick everything you could image down the toilet,” said the jailer.

Under a watchful eye, the jail has cut out a need for several printers, multiple Internet accounts and copy paper.

“We've gone digital to save money on paper,” Kirk said with many of the jail's reports and archives.

There are four fewer employees at the jail now. That saves about $80,000 a year.

“When I started, there were 40 employees,” Kirk said. “Right now we have 36.”

“Pennies make dollars and dollars make hundreds of dollars,” Kirk added. “We're watching every penny.”

Contributions for sick boy's transplant surpass $14,000

STAFF REPORT
Clear skies, good food and great entertainment helped make Mason Fuller Day in Salem a successful, fun-filled event for the entire family. Salem Day organizers dedicated the city's annual spring event to support one of its own, Mason Fuller, son of Brad and Jenny Fuller of Salem. Mason is diagnosed with NEMO, an immune disorder that will require a bone marrow transplant. Community members showed their support for the Fuller family and raised more than $14,000 at Salem Day. Money raised came from concessions and donations. It will be used to help support the family once Mason receives his bone marrow transplant and has to stay an extended amount of time at the Cincinnati Children's Hospital. Those in Crittenden and Livingston counties can still help support Mason and his family. A blood and bone marrow drive and bake sale is being held in Mason's honor from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. at North Livingston Elementary School in Burna today (Thursday). While individuals don't need to set up an appointment for a cheek swab for bone marrow matches, they do need to schedule a time to donate blood. To make an appointment, download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, call (800) RED-CROSS or visit RedCrossBlood.org and enter sponsor code 0195056. On May 31, Carrsville Masonic Lodge 812 will hold a bass fishing tournament to benefit the Fuller family. A perfect bone marrow match for Mason has been identified. His transplant will take place this summer. Those wishing to make a donation for the family can contact Farmers Bank & Trust Co. in Salem where an account is set up on their behalf.

Fuller

Ag ed greenhouse open

Fresh flowers, plants and vegetables are now available at the Crittenden County High School agriculture education greenhouse located behind the high school. The greenhouse is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.. The greenhouse was expanded at its front entrance for a location to both temper plants and as a retail center for plant sales to the public. It also allows for the placement of more tables for display. Ag educator Larry Duvall said the front of the greenhouse also received tiered planting beds to be used for early spring vegetables and flowers. Funds from the project came from a 50/50 matching grant from the Kentucky Agricultural Development Board. Shown above are students (from left) Antonio Adkins, Austin Sitar, Chris Ladd and Jason Bomia working in the new enclosed area of the greenhouse.

Eddyville man arrested by KSP

STAFF REPORT
A Lyon County man was charged with fleeing or evading police on foot last week after an incident on Owens Road in rural Crittenden County. Owens Road is just south of Dycusburg off Ky. 295. Trooper First Class Darrin Holliman was summoned to the scene to check on suspicious activity. Over the last couple of years, there have been a number of drug arrests in that area. When Holliman arrived, he encountered Hoyt G. Reynolds, 29, of Eddyville, who was seated in the passenger side of a vehicle in a private driveway off Owens Road. When the trooper ordered Reynolds to show his hands, the man did not comply. According to the police report, the suspect then leaned over in the vehicle. At that time, Trooper Holliman deployed his taser. Reynolds jumped through the driver's side window and fled on foot. Trooper Holliman called for backup and two officers from Crittenden County Sheriff's Department responded. Reynolds returned to the scene a short time later and was taken into custody. Two other outstanding warrants were served on the suspect and he was lodged in Crittenden County Detention Center. No injuries were reported as a result of the incident.

STAFF REPORT
School officials noted the savings on fuel costs at last week's Crittenden County Board of Education meeting. Lead bus mechanic Wayne Winters said at the April 28 meeting that the school district has seen tremendous savings this year in diesel fuel costs over last year. The primary reason for the savings is due to propane buses running on longer routes in the county. The per-gallon cost of diesel fuel, too, has been down compared to last year. Winters said last year, the school district spent $123,136 on diesel fuel and in the past typically purchased five to six loads a year. This year, the district has purchased only two loads of diesel fuel and spent $36,706. Winters estimates this year the district could save $40,000 to $45,000. The school board approved using the same diesel supplier it's currently using. Home Oil and Gas of Henderson offered a bid of 3.9 cents per gallon over the terminal price for the 2015-16 school year. The school board once again approved using local supplier River Region Propane to fuel its growing fleet of buses running on propane autogas. The bid from the company was 0.958 cents per gallon for the 2015-16 school year.

CCHS students visit Big Apple

By JASON TRAVIS
STAFF WRITER

Crittenden County High School students recently traveled to New York City where they had the opportunity to visit the 9/11 Memorial and witness the site of one of the major events of the 21st century. On April 21-25, 21 students from Kim Vince's advanced U.S. history class visited New York and explored the National September 11 Memorial and Museum.

From learning about the heroic acts of Fire Department of New York Ladder Co. 3, which received some of the heaviest casualties from the 9/11 attack, to viewing pieces of metal from the north tower that actually showed the point of impact from an airliner, students were able to witness recent history most of them were too young to view on television. Students also learned about stories of survival from that fateful day. Approximately 15,000 people did make it out of the twin towers to safety after the initial attack occurred.

Vince said students also got to view the new building erected at the site. One World Trade Center, originally dubbed the Freedom Tower, is the tallest skyscraper in the Western Hemisphere and the fourth-tallest in the world. Vince said the symbolism of the building being 1,776 feet tall was not lost on the students.

"It's gorgeous as far as the reflections you see all around," Vince said of the new skyscraper. "The other buildings are still in the process of being built."

Students also visited the memorial area and the waterfalls, which are designed to drown out noises from the rest of the city.

"You don't hear the horns honking or brakes on the trucks. It is serene," Vince said. "There are a lot of people there, so that takes away from it a little bit. But you don't feel like you're in the city when you're at those memorials because of the waterfalls."

While the visit to the 9/11 Memorial was the main emphasis of the visit to New York, students also had the opportunity to view the city's other attractions, and in some cases, made alterations to their itinerary. During their visit to New York City, a bomb threat forced the closure of both the Statue of Liberty and Liberty Island. Vince indicated her class never had any intentions of actually visiting those locations because of time constraints. They did, however, plan on visiting Ellis Island, but out of caution cancelled that visit after learning about the bomb threat to the other landmarks.

"The kids were great. Of course, there was disappointment. There was disappointment on my part, too. We studied this. I wanted them to see it," she said. "But they took it in stride and were happy to be able to get out on the Staten Island Ferry and see the harbor and the city as you would be approaching as an immigrant coming into this country."

Vince also wanted the students to witness the staging and production of a Broadway show. After the performance of "Les Misérables," the group from Crittenden County High School was the only one in the theater invited for a call back, which allowed them to speak with and ask questions of cast and orchestra members and learn about their lives and what it meant to produce a Broadway show. Vince said the show was packed with special effects that enhanced the production.

A tour of Wall Street and Times Square helped round out the trip for the history class.

Upon returning from their visit to New York, students were given an assignment to write their thoughts on what they learned from their trip.

"The 9/11 Memorial and Museum show that even though there've been times of terror and pain, we still are strong, and we have a sense of pride for our country and the ones who died on that day," said Tyler Coleman.

In comparing New York to Marion, Travis Fitzgerald said, "One example of contrast is the difference in driving between Marion and New York City. In Marion, nearly everyone is at least fairly considerate of other drivers, but in New York, everyone is rushed and forces their way through traffic. It brings a new meaning to road rage."

Vince, who recently returned from France with the Horizons Club, announced at the April 28 school board meeting that next year's Horizon's trip would include visiting the southern part of Germany and the Swiss Alps. While there, they will take a guided tour of Munich and the Olympic stadium and visit Neuschwanstein Castle, the Black Forest, Liechtenstein and the Alps.

As with all trips either state-side or abroad, Vince said she sets forth a very high expectation of behavior for students participating in the trips. She said most of the time they meet and even exceed those expectations.

"You can't have a good trip if all you're doing is worrying about bad behavior here or there," she said. "I have to have a lot of trust from the students that take these trips."

The Horizons Club's visit to Germany and the Swiss Alps is scheduled during spring break of next year.

Fredonia heritage society meets today

STAFF REPORT

Fredonia Valley Heritage Society will meet at 7 p.m. today (Thursday) at the Fredonia Lions Club Building in Fredonia. Richard P'Pool will present the program concerning his time of service at the White House during his tenure in the military. He will display some never-before-seen items.

Refreshments will be served and a business meeting will also take place.

Fredonia Valley Heritage Society is for anyone interested in learning more about the heritage and history of the Fredonia Valley and for those who want to see the history of our community preserved for future generations.

The society is embarking upon a new book project. This book will contain the stories of veterans from the Fredonia Valley.

"If you or a member of your family served in any branch of the military in war time or in times of peace at any time in history, and is connected to the Fredonia Valley now or in the past, we want to include them in our book," said society member Pam Faughn. "To be included, all you have to do is to provide a picture, if you have one, and a biography of the veteran."

Final deadline for all submissions will be Aug. 31.

Photographs and biographies may be emailed to pamfaughn@att.net.

"Also, days will be scheduled where you may bring your photographs to be scanned," Faughn added. "That will not require you to leave your photos."

Watch the newspaper for announcements of those scan days.

For further information, email to Faughn or contact any other member of the book committee: Nancy Paris, Marsha Green, Maggie Gammon, Linda Ward or P'Pool.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of Fredonia Valley Heritage Society is encouraged to attend tonight's meeting.

NEWS BRIEFS

Memorial Day event features Campbell

This year's Memorial Day ceremony at the Blackford Veterans' Memorial Trail will feature Crittenden County native Brig. Gen. Scott A. Campbell with the Kentucky National Guard.

Campbell, the highest ranking member of the military to graduate high school in Crittenden County, will be the keynote speaker for the annual event. This year's ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. May 23.

3 FBLA members headed to nationals

Three Crittenden County High School FBLA students will advance to Chicago for national competition. At a recent event, Cole Foster placed second in Agribusiness, Logan Bingham placed fourth in Help Desk and Benny Tucker placed fifth in Business Procedures.

KOSSA scores for high school improve

Crittenden County High School recently reported good news in regard to Kentucky Occupational Skills Standards Assessment, or KOSSA, testing results. The number of students who passed the test increased from 18 in the 2013-14 school year to 63 in the current school year. The passing rate went from 37 percent to 61 percent.

The results also indicate the school has met and exceeded its College and Career Readiness goals for the year. School officials thanked its career and technical education teachers for their work in preparing students for the test.

'Rockette' yearbook now for sale online

The 58th volume of the Crittenden County High School "Rockette" yearbook is now on sale. Students and parents can reserve a copy of the full-color publication online by visiting Balfour.com. The cost is $35. Books can be personalized for an additional charge. Yearbooks will be available for pickup in August.

The "Rockette" is a student-created publication, designed from cover to cover by the nine-member yearbook staff. Three-year veteran senior Lauren Beavers heads up the staff, serving as editor. Other staff members include seniors Elle LaPlante and Melanie Serrano, juniors Lauren McKinney and Katie Travis and sophomores

Regan Frazer, Hannah Hardin, Brennan Jones and Katie Wheeler.

Corrections

- Due to a reporting error, a story in last week's newspaper about theft charges brought by Livingston County Sheriff's Department against Morgan Driver, 20, of Marion erroneously referred to the suspect as a male.

- Due to misinformation provided to The Crittenden Press, a story in the April 23 edition of the newspaper incorrectly listed charges brought against Cindy Loveless, 51, of Salem on April 8. Loveless was charged with first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance (methamphetamine) greater than 2 grams, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

May proclaimed Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month

STAFF REPORT

It's Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month in Crittenden County. Last week, Judge-Executive Perry Newcom, at the request of the Kentucky Motorcycle Association (KMA), signed a proclamation declaring the month as such.

KMA promotes motorcycle safety, education and awareness throughout the state, and by signing the proclamation, Newcom is urging all motorists to join in the effort to improve safety and awareness on the county's roadways.

Motorcycle riding is a popular form of recreation for millions of citizens across the United States and the bikes have become a common means of transportation because they are compact and economical, saving owners on fuel costs.

Motorcycle riding requires proper training, experience, good judgment and knowledge of traffic laws by the rider. And the safe operation of a motorcycle requires the development of appropriate defensive driving habits by operators in order to protect themselves and ensure the safety of all.

However, it is also important that drivers in passenger or commercial vehicles be aware of motorcycles on the streets, roads and highways in order to reduce the occurrence of injuries and fatalities.

There were 73 motorcycle fatalities in Kentucky last year.

"All drivers need to be aware that motorcycles should be regarded with the same respect as any other vehicles traveling the highways of this county," the proclamation declares.

Bluebird boxes to be given away

STAFF REPORT

A sure sign of spring is the Bluebird Habitat Giveaway, sponsored annually by Crittenden County Conservation District. The local high school's woodworking class constructed the all-wood, traditional or peaked metal roof-style birdhouses with materials provided by the conservation district.

The giveaway is open to anyone interested in receiving and installing a bird box on their property. To enter, send a postcard with your name, address and phone number to: Bluebird Box Drawing, Crittenden County Conservation District, 118 E. Bellville St., Marion, KY, 42064.

Cards must be received by the office no later May 21. Please send only one per household.

Names will be randomly drawn from among the postcards received. Those selected will be notified by phone or mail.

The conservation district would also like to know about the successes previous winners have had in attracting birds to their boxes. Photos can be sent to the office or emailed to cdvdky@yahoo.com.

ing interest because the price of fluorspar is rising on the world market.

Although those associated with recent exploration are contractually bound to maintain confidentiality about who was backing the project, The Press learned a few years ago that Honeywell was the driving force.

Baird said upward of $10 million has already been invested in the area, and he thinks the samples taken demonstrate a mineable resource.

"I have had some promising conversations with some folks who are interested in moving forward with the project," he said.

ESCI owns a large house on East Gum Street and will continue to operate out of it.

Baird said a handful of employees remains in the county and that the company has picked up other work with regional quarries.

"We intend on keeping our presence in Crittenden County whether it is related to the fluorspar project or not," Baird said.

Frazer thinks the price of fluorspar and zinc – another commodity with high potential here – will attract new investors.

"Everything I read is that the price for fluorspar is going back up," he said.

Frazer said there are proven deposits of fluorspar and zinc in the area.

"When the fluorspar mining shut down in 1951, it wasn't because it wasn't here anymore," he said.

Frazer explains that world market conditions and lack of U.S. tariffs on imported spar crippled local mining.

The cost of mining in Mexico is on the rise, Baird said, and China no longer exports the amount of fluorspar it once did.

Baird thinks a fluorspar operation in Crittenden County could reasonably produce and ship spar to domestic customers for much less than those companies could buy it on the world market. Of course, that is if prices continue to climb.

make-up days were taking away from teacher planning days. School officials plan to take the two days from fall break and move them into the spring semester. One day would be used in January and the other in March, where they could, depending on winter weather conditions, be utilized as snow make-up days.

Clark said school officials wanted to wait a year before making the change to fall break because many families in the county plan vacation time around that week.

Last month, Clark also said that if winter weather conditions close schools for multiple days, much like the previous two winters, the first three days of spring break could be utilized as make-up days. He stressed it is important to end a school year before June and allow students to have a summer vacation.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Crittenden County Property Assessment roll will be open from Monday May 11 through Tuesday May 26, 2015 for the 2015 Tax Year. Under the supervision of the P.V.A. or one of the Deputies, any person may inspect the assessment roll.

This is the January 1, 2015 assessment on which state, county, school and other districts taxes will be due this fall.

The assessment roll is in the office of the P.V.A. in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours of 8 am to 4 pm Monday through Friday and 9 am to 11 am on Saturdays during this period. We will be closed Memorial Day.

Any property owner desiring to appeal an assessment on real property made by the PVA must first request a conference with the PVA or a designated deputy. The conference may be held prior to or during the inspection period.

Any property owner still aggrieved by an assessment on real property after the conference with the PVA or designated deputy may appeal to the county board of assessment appeals.

The property owner can appeal his assessment by filing in person or sending a letter or other written petition stating the reasons for appeal, identifying the property and stating the taxpayer's opinion of the fair cash value of the property.

The appeal must be filed with the County Clerk's office no later than one working day following the conclusion of the inspection period.

Any property owner failing to appeal to the county board of assessment appeals, or failing to appear before the board, either in person or by a designated representative, will not be eligible to appeal directly to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

Appeals of personal property assessments shall not be made to the county board of assessment appeals. Personal property owners shall be served notice under the provisions of KRS 132.450(4) and shall have the protest and appeal rights granted under the provisions of KRS 131.110.

The following steps should be taken when a property owner does not agree with the assessed value of personal property.

- 1) Property owner must list under protest (for certification) what they believe to be the fair cash value of their property.
- 2) Personal property owners must file a written protest directly with the Department of Property Taxation within 30 days from the date of the notice of assessment.
- 3) This protest must be in accordance with KRS 131.110.
- 4) The final decision of the Revenue Cabinet may be appealed to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

(The Crittenden County PVA Office is responsible for the assessment of property; however we do not set tax rates or collect taxes.)

Are Amish part of God’s smoking gun?

Surely, He has a smoking gun or corrupt America would not be as well off as she is since the majority support or accept the evil of killing the most innocent among us and degenerating into the abyss of Sodom and Gomorrah.

All who are students of world and Bible history and keep current on the daily news of this world know the end is nearing fast.

Any person with any decency left in them can see this country has left God and what it has turned us into. If all heads were out of the sand, we would see that the fast-approaching encroachment of the bloody, totally depraved armies of ISIS is God’s method of judgment promised throughout the history of Abraham and God’s dealing with nations.

God historically has punished nations who left Him, with other more wicked nations than themselves coming and destroying them. They have killed and made slaves of them. Then, after He used those wicked nations for His purpose of punishment, He faithfully destroyed them for being so evil as to be used.

America today is so deceived by Satan as to God’s true nature, because most of what we hear is about God’s love. Many refuse to teach that not only is God love, but He also is just.

We all know what justice is. We get what we deserve.

Sin in a nation brings on anarchy, tyranny, crime, hate and everyone doing their own thing, which turns life into hell on Earth for all of us.

We are on a fast track to get there.

Peter said in 2nd Peter 3:9-12, “But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the Earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in all holy conversation and godliness.

“Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat.”

Here, we are told twice that the elements (nitrogen, oxygen, water) and the Earth would be burned up. Yet there are those who try to convince us that God is only going to clean up the Earth and the righteous would live on it. How can they, without air and water?

In Revelation 20, St. John told us that when the trinity of evil had completely encircled every Christian on the Earth, fire would come down from God out of Heaven and devour them.

That trinity of the Great Red Dragon of godless paganism, the false teaching of godless communism and false religions of Gog and Magog have completely encircled every Christian worldwide.

Asia is the dwelling place of communist China, part of communist Russia, communist North Korea, the many nations of the Muslims and the hotbed of the radical Muslims barnstorming the world. Each one of these hates Christians.

Friends, open your eyes and see the three are right now threatening every born-again believer in all seven continents and see the nightly news of the beheading of thousands.

All we were told to watch for has moved into place, and God alone knows the day and the hour.

God has held back in letting all these three evil powers destroy America. I know it is because millions of the Godly, truly born-again Christians are standing, working and praying for a reprieve from God for America one more time.

We are told by scripture to carry the cross for Jesus. That is to sacrifice self-fulfillment in order to represent and present Jesus to a corrupt and dying world.

I’m well acquainted with some of the Amish among us. Many have worked for me and helped me for years, and I see they are part of these millions.

I have been in their homes, at their funerals and wedding meals and seen them doing without many of the world’s comforts because they believe they are carrying the cross by abstaining from these things that can be tools used to corrupt minds and lives.

I am well aware these abstinences by them or by us do not constitute holiness, but how many others do we see abstaining from anything that could and does bring reproach on Jesus?

The Amish preach holiness. The Bible tells us that without it, we will never see God. Only God knows each of their hearts as He does ours.

The Bible also teaches, “We shall know a tree by the fruit it bears.”

That authorizes us to be fruit inspectors, and the Amish I know best pass inspection.

Knowing

There are thousands of Amish and other like-minded people living in America who willingly do without for the sake of righteousness – many things they go without would make their lives so much easier. They live by the rule, “Do unto others as you would have them do unto you” and abstain from worldly entertainment. They live a simple, hard-working life and are contributors to the environment and healthy living.

It makes me wonder if God has not taken special note of their willing sacrifices along with any others who also carry the cross of Jesus in different ways. Does this influence His timetable of holding back judgment a little longer on America, benefiting all of us?

Thank God for all who are so living – causing God to hold back His awful black storm of righteous judgment – and praying for millions to come to Jesus so God can help all of us one more time.

Christ put an end, need for ritualistic sacrifices

By FELTY YODER

GUEST COLUMNIST

In recent weeks, we commemorated the crucifixion, death, burial and resurrection of our Lord Jesus. This blood sacrifice He shed for us brought an end to the Old Testament rituals and animal sacrifices that would never take away sin or make anything perfect.

“Christ, who through the eternal spirit offered himself without spot to God,” reads Hebrews 9:14, instituted a new order of perfection and holiness. No longer was there any merit for the Israelite in bringing his animal to the eastern gate of the tent, where the priest and the Levite would take it to the brazen altar and sacrifice it to the Lord.

In the New Covenant that Jesus established, we are called upon to present our own bodies for a sacrifice.

“I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God,” Romans 12:1 tell us.

When we present our bodies for a sacrifice, then the old human nature is placed on the altar, as it were, and we receive a new mind. As the old nature dies and the dross is consumed by the fires of God, little by little, we partake of the divine nature. By the application of the blood of Christ, God calls it a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable.

This transformation is our spiritual service. God wants to bring us to “the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable, and perfect will of God,” reads Romans 12:2.

Jesus presented Himself as a sacrifice. He knew the perfect will of God and walked in total union with the Father from the time He knew to refuse the evil and choose the good.

“Butter and honey shall he eat, that he may know to refuse the evil, and choose the good,” Isaiah 7:15 reads.

Jesus invites us to follow Him. To follow, we must go the way He went, and walk in union with Him, as He walked with the Father. When we present our bodies as a sacrifice, we may know the good and acceptable will of God is for us as individuals and discover what His desire is for us in the church as a brotherhood.

Only Christ can deliver one from God’s wrath

By JOEY DURHAM

GUEST COLUMNIST

Today, I’d like to bring this devotional thought to your heart, “Will Christians Go Through the Tribulation Period?” My text is found in I Thessalonians 1:10, where we read, “And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come.”

Much false teaching has been circulating concerning those who will enter the terrible seven-year span of judgment from God upon this world known as the Tribulation Period. The Bible plainly teaches that, after the rapture of the church, there will come seven years of intense judgment from God on this Earth and upon those who rejected the pure grace of God to save their soul and change their life in an amazing way.

In our text, we read, “And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come.”

The church cannot deliver from wrath, a religious leader cannot deliver from wrath, no amount of good works can deliver from wrath, being sincere in a belief system cannot deliver from wrath nor can observing certain requirements in religious tradition deliver from wrath.

I can show you from the Word of God where it plainly substantiates that everything I’ve just stated is Gospel truth. Only Jesus can deliver a person from the wrath of God, or the Tribulation to come.

How? By personally repenting of sin and trusting Jesus and Him alone for the salvation of your soul. If you escape the Tribulation Period, you’ll escape trusting Jesus.

Friend, if you’re not trusting Jesus alone when the church is called away, you’ll know what real trouble is all about.

Fatal heart attack leads to wreck

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County Sheriff's Deputy Chuck Hoover said a wreck around 4 a.m. Saturday appeared to be the result of cardiac arrest.

According to Hoover, County Coroner Brad Gilbert said Rommel Ellington Sr., 60, of Marion apparently suffered a fatal heart attack that led to his southbound Chevy Colorado exiting the righthand lane of U.S. 641 just north of Crayne. The vehicle hit a pole before coming to a rest.

Ellington was pronounced dead at the scene.

Dean set to open New York ceramics school

STAFF REPORT
Marion native Julia Boram Dean is embarking on a new journey. For the past two years, Dean has been planning the opening of The Clay School, a community ceramics teaching studio, located in Ithaca, NY, which is set to open this fall. In early April, a fundraising campaign was launched on IndieGoGo, an online crowdfunding platform. In addition to equipping the studio with pottery wheels and kilns, Dean will join a staff of instructors that offers insight, enthusiasm and encouragement.

After the closing of the Cornell Ceramics Studio in 2011, the Ithaca community lost a venue that brought students together in a common environment. One of the goals of the Clay School of Ithaca is to offer a collaborative environment for students at all levels of experience.

Dean said her own love of ceramics was born at age 10 after her family visited Colonial Williamsburg, where she witnessed a potter working at a wheel.

"I was glued to the potter for hours," she said. "That was the moment."

Although she liked to

draw and create, a conflict in scheduling prevented her from taking an art class in high school. It wasn't until college when she took her first pottery course as an elective.

An education major, she taught in the Texas public school system for two years. She then decided to follow her destiny and work in the arts. Dean's family has owned Henry and Henry Monuments in Marion for generations.

Dean is the daughter of Kenneth and Angela Boram of Eddyville and Virgil and Dianne Newcom of Marion.

Today she crafts handmade ceramics to almost 60 stores across the country. She also sells items via a featured store on the Etsy website.

"It's one of the most magical things I've discovered in life," Dean said about creating an object from unformed clay.

She said her work is inspired by nature and often finds a way to record natural objects, such as shells and leaves, into clay.

Dean said she enjoys watching up-and-coming artists and the ideas they bring. In addition to wheel classes, handbuilding will also be taught at The Clay School.

Dean's website is at www.juliaedean.com.

MCC announces events for graduation ceremony

STAFF REPORT
Madisonville Community College will host its spring 2015 graduation ceremony Friday at the Glema Mahr Center for the Arts in Madisonville. The first ceremony begins at 5:30 p.m. and will honor associate in arts, associate in science and nursing program graduates. The second ceremony begins at 7:30 p.m. and will honor associate in applied science and diploma graduates.

The commencement speaker for both ceremonies will be Gen. Richard L. Frymire Jr. of Madisonville. He is senior partner with the law firm of Frymire, Evans, Peyton, Teague and Cartwright in Madisonville and has been active in many capacities in his community. He is a graduate of Centre College and the University of Kentucky College of Law. Frymire's civic service includes Kentucky state representative (1962-65), Kentucky state senator (1966-69; majority leader 1968-69), and Hopkins County Judge-Executive (1999-2002). His military service includes active duty stints with the U.S. Navy, U.S. Marines and U.S. Air Force. He retired as a major general of the Air Force in 1983. Frymire also served on the Murray State University Board of Regents from August 1982 to March 1986 and as chair from 1982 to 1985.

"Graduation is always an exciting time for students and the college. We have another outstanding graduating class. Many of our graduates have secured high wage jobs already or have made plans to transfer to a four-year college or university," shared Dr. Jay Parrent, chief student affairs officer. "It is anticipated that 170 graduates will participate in the May 8th ceremonies."

The community is invited to attend the graduation ceremonies and celebrate the accomplishments of our students.

Patel named to Governor's Scholars program

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County High School student Raj Patel has been selected to attend the 2015 Governor's Scholars program to be held this June.

A summer residential program for outstanding high school students, the Governor's Scholars program began in 1983. The purpose was to keep the state's top students in the Commonwealth to pursue higher educational opportunities. The program's mission is to enhance the Commonwealth's next generation of leaders. Originally located at one campus site, host campuses are determined competitively every three years. Patel will learn which site he will attend later this month. Once the site is determined, he'll spend several weeks on campus studying in a particular focus area. The program also includes applauded Patel's commitment to excellence. "I am extremely proud of seminars and general study courses that are designed to challenge students. CCHS guidance counselor Stefanie Shoulders said, "Raj is a very intelligent and talented student who will be a great asset to the Governor's Scholars Program."

To attend the program, Patel began filling out paper work last fall. The application process included an academic profile, test scores, an outline of extracurricular activities and teacher recommendations.

Among his extracurricular accomplishments, Patel was named president of the 4-H Rocket club and awarded the Crittenden County Outstanding Senior boy in 10th grade. He also helps tutor fellow students at the high school's Crosswalk 21st Century Learning Center.

Patel said attending the Governor's Scholar program is a great opportunity to explore his future career options. With an interest in exploring a career in the medical field, one area Patel is considering is biomedical engineering. He's also considering college options that will include a school that has both a good engineering and medical program such as the University of Louisville.

Patel is the son of Kenny and Kim Patel of Marion.

Artistic ability

Carrie Peek may have found a future career option, or at the very least a new hobby. The Crittenden County High School sophomore created a table from a pallet of wood. Each student in ag instructor Larry Duvall's construction class selected their own project to work on. Peek used a wood burner to create a unique design for the piece. Realizing Peek's artistic abilities with woodburning, Duvall recommended she utilize her skills and repurpose wood into a table project and apply an artistic design with woodburning. "I was very pleased with it," Duvall said. "She has a lot of talent." Peek said she was inspired by a similar design she found while searching the Internet. Shown at left is Peek using the woodburning technique. The finished product is shown above.

Tuition going up at 4 state colleges

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Murray State students soon will be paying more for tuition.

Last month, state officials approved at or near maximum tuition increases at four state colleges.

The Kentucky Council on Postsecondary Education approved a 3 percent hike for the University of Kentucky, 2.9 percent for Eastern Kentucky University, 2.9 percent for Murray State University and 3.1 percent for Northern Kentucky University.

That's an average increase of 7.9 percent over the past two years, just under the 8 percent that is allowed.

The increases come amid a heated GOP primary for governor where the candidates have all lamented the escalating cost of college. Candidate James Comer has proposed tax credits he said would guarantee a four-year-degree for an in-state student would cost at most $20,000. That's about half of what students pay now at the University of Kentucky and the University of Louisville.

History of Crooked Creek Church still being written

Local church to celebrate 180th birthday with homecoming

Happily, Crooked Creek Baptist Church is adding another chapter to its history. Before we go forward, let's recall some of its early history and how it got started.

In July 1935, Crooked Creek Baptist Church was celebrating its 100th anniversary. One of its faithful members, Mrs. Fred Gilbert (Lillie Postleth-weight Gilbert), wrote an interesting article on the history of the church. Below are a few of her comments about the historic old church.

We are thankful for these articles to help renew old memories and preserve our history.

Crooked Creek Church

The pioneer settlers of this community were not different from other pioneers. They made provisions under very trying conditions to hold up the life of Christ to a dying world and carry on for His sake. What an inspiration.

July 18, 1935, marked the 100th anniversary of Crooked Creek Baptist Church. This church is located 2 miles north of Marion, near the waters of Crooked Creek. It is practically in the center, geographically, of Crittenden County, although it was established several years before Crittenden County became a county (in 1842).

In 1835, a group of believers was inspired to organize a New Testament Church, which was to be known as the Crooked Creek United Baptist Church of Christ.

The location was purchased from the Southern Presbyterians. Originally, it consisted of a primitive log house and a few acres of ground. The house was destroyed during the Civil War. The building which now stands replaces the log hut. Peter E. Shewmaker, deceased, supervised the construction of the present building.

The rules of decorum and articles of faith were made and signed by the families of Elder, Teager, Champion, Mansfield, Hodge, Burgess, Brook, Stone and Calvert. The charter roster contained a few colored people who worshiped with their masters.

When the church was organized, there were only two other Baptist churches in what is now Crittenden County. So committees were appointed to go into adjacent communities to solicit membership. Because of this grand old church that has stood a century for God, other Baptist churches have come into existence.

In all the vicissitudes of its early life, we have only one record of a marriage ever being solemnized in the church.

The present Ohio River Association was organized here. In May 1883, messengers were sent to Union Baptist Church to discuss the "ways and means" of a new association. Prior to this, Crooked Creek was a member of the Little River Valley Association, then in June of the same year, B.F. Crow, W.J. Cruce and Elder J.S. Henry were appointed to invite the sister churches to meet at Crooked Creek on Friday before the fourth Sunday in October 1883 to conclude the organization. The Ohio River Association has been functioning actively ever since.

Fifty years later

Crooked Creek Baptist Church of the Ohio River Association celebrated its 150th anniversary June 21, 1985. There was preaching, old-fashioned dinner-on-the-grounds and music. And many memories of its rich history.

Even though Crooked Creek was organized in 1835, it actually dates back further. It was established as an arm of Old Salem Baptist Church, some 15 miles away, in 1809.

People in those days traveled the rutted trails through dust or mud as far as 30 miles to worship, many carrying their shoes to be put back on before entering the church building. For this reason, arms of mother churches were established, so that church attendance would not be so difficult.

The early records carry names of negro slaves who worshiped with their masters and took turn guarding the "port-holes" during the Civil War.

Crooked Creek Church has stood as a sentinel in this community. People have come and gone, some transient while others have lived their entire life literally under its shadows.

And things were difficult in western Kentucky in 1809. Kentucky had been a state just 17 years. There was Indian trouble, a severe financial depression and low morale. But in spite of these drawbacks, Crooked Creek grew.

The Baptists bought from the Presbyterians a log building which had housed Bethany Presbyterian Church since 1803. It was on the banks of Crooked Creek (then still Livingston County) and known as "the old log church."

They organized the United Baptist Church of Christ at Crooked Creek, now known as Crooked Creek Missionary Baptist Church. The constitution, articles of faith and rules of decorum that were compiled are still in use in 1985.

In 1884, a group of men from Crooked Creek helped organize the first United Baptist Church of Christ at Marion, the county seat of Crittenden County.

The present building was dedicated in 1870. It had cost $999.75.

(Written by Pauline Segall, who was state correspondent at the time.)

The history continues

On May 17, 2015, Crooked Creek Church will be having another anniversary, its 180th. It's an anniversary that looked like, for a while, would not be possible. In January 2013, the little church had to close due to lack of membership and the passing away of most all the original members. It was a sad day for the church and its few faithful remaining members.

But soon, the church was reopened again with a group of people wanting to start a new organization. Crooked Creek Church let the new membership join the church so the newcomers would not have to dissolve the church and start over.

On Easter Sunday, March 31, 2013, Crooked Creek Church had its first service with the new membership.

Donna Girtten, wife of Pastor Mark Girtten, believes that God has a plan for the church or it wouldn't have reopened and been given a new beginning. When the new organization was restarted in March, they had a membership of 12, and now they have grown to 24 with more attending for Sunday morning worship services.

The church building is also getting some new renovations. The basement has been completely remodeled, as it had some serious water problems, and now it is in beautiful condition. Looking toward the future, later this month, a group of ministers from Texas are coming to help with more updates to the church. A new awning will be put over the handicapped entrance and the open patio on the back will be enclosed to make more room for a usable space as overflow for people on the monthly singing event. As many as 25 to 30 have been attending these monthly singings.

The Girtens have been at the Crooked Creek Church now for a year. They and the congregation would like to invite everyone to their 180th anniversary to celebrate the day with them.

This very special day will begin at 10 a.m. with a historical presentation of the church by members dressed in period clothing.

From 11 a.m. to noon, services will take place with preaching by Bro. Carroll Roberson, who is a well-known evangelist, gospel singer-songwriter and author. He is founder and president of Carroll Roberson Ministries in Ripley, Miss., where he lives with his wife Donna. Roberson also has a weekly 30-minute television program on The Church Channel called "This Is Carroll Roberson."

Then, from noon to 2 p.m., there will be a free lunch featuring an old-fashioned dinner-on-the-grounds with all the trimmings, just like the old homecomings.

From 2 to 3 p.m., there will be a special singing presentation by Bro. Roberson and his wife.

Music will continue with the last event from 3 to 5 p.m. It will feature other singing acts which include Bright Life Farms, Eddie Boone, The Walkers and the church's own talented members.

Congratulations to the church and its members on the 180th anniversary. It's nice to learn the good news that Crooked Creek Church is growing with God's help, and that the history of this old Crittenden County church will continue into the future.

Softball Record: Girls win most in school history

STAFF REPORT

Granted, the Lady Rockets' 13-12 record is hardly stuff state championships are made of and other schools have far eclipsed such win figures many times over. Yet there is plenty to crow about on the Crittenden County softball diamond this season if one keeps an historic perspective. Crittenden's fast-pitch team has largely been left in the shadow of meager mediocrity. The number of wins they've collected over the past 10 years would fit into a small bat bag. However, a wind of change is blowing across the dusty diamond at Marion-Crittenden County Park where the Lady Rockets call home. They've already set a record for most wins in a season and by their step and tenor it's pretty clear that they think the best is yet to come. Khyla Moss and Danielle Byarley are two of three seniors on the club. They've been there the longest, playing since seventh grade. They agree that the young talent has helped make this team successful. A huge sophomore class is blended well with four upper classmen and a bevy of freshmen and middle schoolers provide depth and key components to the team. Moss says the squad has gelled and dividends are in the win column.

"We're just communicating much better," she said. Byarley agrees. The girls are close and they pick one another up. "No matter if someone has a bad day, we're there to keep each other up," she said. "We have good hitting this year. It seems like no one has been in a slump at the same time as someone else." From their experience and perspective as 12th graders who have been around a good while, Byarley and Moss say the young girls who play travel ball in the summer and fall are bringing a new, more complete skill-set to Lady Rocket softball. "Some of these girls never stop playing. When you play year round, that helps," Byarley said. Prior to this season, the most wins ever were 10 in 1997 under head coach Al Starnes. At 13 wins and counting, Crittenden's support base thinks the coming years may be even better. Byarley and Moss agree. They think more success is in the offing. The girls won a record six straight games before losing 9-1 Tuesday at Webster County. They had also lost six straight earlier in the season. Wins piling up Jessi Brewer hit a sacrifice fly to center scoring Courtney Beverly from third to beat Hopkinsville in extra innings Friday. The 4-3 win in 9 innings was the first game of a double-header at Hoptown. The game went into extra innings tied 1-1. Both teams scored twice in the eighth to keep it going. For CCHS in the eighth, Jenna Potter scored on an error and Chaylee Wolf was plated on a infield single by Cassidy Moss. Wolf finished with 2 hits, including a double. Byarley, Beverly and Kali Travis also singled. Cassidy Moss struck out 12 and walked just two. The nightcap was a slugfest with Crittenden winning it 9-7 thanks to 11 hits and a 5-run second inning. Wolf, Kaitlyn Hicks and Travis had 2 hits apiece. Hicks knocked in 2 runs and Wolf scored twice, as did Ellie Smith. Beverly and Hicks shared the pitching chores. Crittenden capitalized on walks, errors and passed balls to fashion a two-out, 3-run fifth inning that beat Dawson Springs 3-1 on the road last Thursday. Barley had 2 hits for CCHS and Khyla Moss had a single and Kiana Nesbitt a double. Cassidy Moss and Beverly combined for the win. Beverly worked 5.2 innings. The Lady Rocket defense was virtually error free, but Dawson kicked the ball around, letting 4 errors make a difference in the outcome.

Rockets snap six-game skid, but Marshals dampen spirits

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County (8-11) beat Dawson Springs 7-2 Friday on the road to snap a six-game losing streak, but Marshall County dampened Rocket hopes of a continued surge on Tuesday. The Marshals beat CCHS 5-0 at Marion as Adam Driver had the Rockets' only hit. Coach Donnie Phillips tinkered with the lineup a bit late last week and got some positive results. Shelby Robinson continues to have a hot bat. He hit for the abbreviated cycle at Dawson (2-17), getting a single, double and triple. Ethan Hunt was 2-for-3 at the plate and Alex Cosby had a triple. Taylor Yancy started the Dawson game on the mound and Driver finished it for Crittenden.

Going into that game, Crittenden had dropped six in a row after winning three of its previous four. During the losing skid, the Rockets faced some fierce opposition, including Hopkinsville, Madisonville and Union County. Union beat the Rockets15-3 at Marion last Thursday. Driver, Robinson and Maeson Myers had 2 hits apiece. Myers pitched 3 innings. Crittenden will be at 1-17 Fort Campbell Thursday and host 11-11 Trigg County on Friday in a Fifth District showdown. Then the Rockets face Ballard Memorial in the Dream-maker Classic at Marshall County on Saturday. Ballard (23-3) finished second in the Kentucky All A Classic Baseball Tournament, losing 4-3 Sunday to Lexington Christian.

CRITTENDEN COUNTY OUTDOORS

Summers' season is smoking, but most hunters finding birds scarce

STAFF REPORT

Young Quinn Summers is following in his grandpa's footsteps. Quinn the grandson of Allen Summers of Salem, has already taken both his turkeys this season. He is only seven. Quinn's grandfather was one of the early pioneers of turkey hunting in Crittenden County and was instrumental in pushing for restocking efforts as a founding member of the local NWTf chapter, which is now defunct. Turkey hunters have through Sunday to get a bird. Field reports indicate that hunting has been tough, especially the last few days. Crittenden's harvest is way down for a second straight year. So far, gunners have taken just 341 turkeys.

That's off last year's pace of 396 and lagging far behind the previous four years of more than 500 turkeys. It's official. The National Wild Turkey Federation has confirmed that David Cody Guess' gobbler taken April 21 in Lyon County is a new record. The tom weighed 37.6 lbs. The biggest prior to this bird was 27 pounds. There will be a benefit fishing tournament May 31 on the Ohio River. Registration is from 5-6 a.m., at Berry's Ferry Ramp in Livingston County. Proceeds benefit Mason Fuller, a boy in the community in need of long-term medical care. Cost is $60 per boat. For more information, call 270-704-1920 or 270-969-0919.

Dennis Stinnet harvested this tom recently near Dycusburg. It had 1.5-inch spurs and an 11-inch beard.

Quinn Summers, 7, tagged out with a 21-pound tom with a 10.5-inch beard and nearly one-inch spurs.

Wiffle ball action funds JHF scholarships

STAFF REPORT

The Jake Hodge Memorial Foundation is gearing up for what has become its biggest yearly fundraising event – the Wiffle Ball Tournament at Princeton's Little Busch Stadium. Philanthropists Ken and Katie Parker host the three-day tournament at their one-third-the-size replica of St. Louis Cardinals' stadium. Teams and players raise money to participate. It raised almost $19,000 last year. Proceeds go toward scholarships for students in Crittenden, Lyon, Caldwell, Livingston counties, plus junior rodeo participants. The event is held in memory of Jake Hodge, the son of Denis and Shannon Hodge, who died very unexpectedly in 2008. For more about the event go online to www.littlebuschstadium.com. "When Shannon and I lost our son Jake, people were so kind and supportive to us we felt we must do something in return," said Denis Hodge. "One of the things we did was start the Jake Hodge Foundation. What started out as a way of healing and giving back for the

Hodge family has evolved into a scholarship foundation that is able to financially assist and morally challenge many young people." Since 2009, the Jake Hodge Foundation has provided nearly $30,000 in educational grants to area students. "Our mission is to provide educational scholarships to students who display honesty, character and integrity," Hodge added. "The foundation rewards students who excel in the classroom and in their chosen field of competition. These students who are singled out for recognition are forever challenged to lead a purpose-driven life and to leave a positive and profound legacy." Last year's scholarships went to Jordan Young, Landon Burns and Kaitlyn Gilkey of Princeton; Cody Doom of Eddyville; Jennifer Head, Austin Wright, Ashley Wright and Austin Woodward of Livingston County; and Micah Hollamon, Devin Belt, Taylor Champion and Abby Whitney of Marion. "Thanks to generous contributions from many people the foundation was able to fund $8,000 in scholarships in 2014," Hodge said. "We have no plans of scaling back for 2015. We all have the desire for our best and brightest to get their education and return to make our communities greater. The foundation is working to help the youth of our community to be able to obtain this goal and allow future generations have the same opportunities afforded to us." The Jake Hodge Foundation is a 501c3 corporation. Contributions to it are tax deductible.

Former Marion man, family OK following wreck

STAFF REPORT

A Caldwell County man and a former Marion man and his family were involved in a two-vehicle, injury collision that occurred on U.S. 641 south of Fredonia around 10:15 a.m. Sunday.

According to Kentucky State Trooper Ben Sawyer, Robert Riley, 72, of Fredonia was operating a 2011 Chrysler 200 northbound on U.S. 641 when he appeared to have had a medical emergency and lost control of the vehicle. The car traveled into the southbound lane where it collided with a southbound 2010 Chevy Silverado operated by Jeremy Tackett, 35, of Sturgis. Riley's vehicle then struck a ditch on the northbound shoulder causing his vehicle to overturn. Tackett's truck, which was also carrying his wife and two young daughters, exited the southbound shoulder of the roadway and struck a utility pole.

Tackett, a graduate of Crittenden County High School, is the athletic director for Union County Schools.

Riley was transported by ambulance to the Crittenden Health Systems in Marion for treatment. Tackett, his wife Shelly, 31, and daughter Jaylen, 3, were transported by ambulance to the Caldwell Medical Center in Princeton for treatment. Tackett's other passenger, daughter Brooklyn, 7, was not injured.

"We truly had guardian angels looking over us," Tackett said in a Facebook post.

All involved in the crash were wearing seat belts.

V-E DAY

rage on through the summer of 1945, the end of the war in Europe signaled hope that the worldwide conflict would soon be over.

One soldier who returned safely from the war in Europe was William Clarke.

Clarke, a native of Evansville who years after the war would move to Marion, served as an intelligence officer in the Army. He was stationed in Germany, south of Berlin and headed toward Czechoslovakia, when the news of the Nazi surrender came across the radio and down from command.

"There was jubilee going on," Clarke said. "Everybody was happy it was over. We were ready to go home."

Even German civilians began to celebrate.

"There were a lot of people who didn't like Hitler," Clarke said. "But they had to put up with it."

An estimated 2 million-plus German civilians were killed during the war.

Despite the jubilation of V-E Day for Clarke, the next day, he and his fellow troops were told to lay down their arms, despite pockets of German resistance still harrying the Allies. Added to the frustration was the threat of being shipped out to help end the war against Japan. That, however, never materialized. Clarke would return safely to the United States in January 1946.

Rev. A.C. Hodge, who is still pastoring at 89, wanted to serve in the war, but a bum arm kept him out.

"I tried to get in. I went two or three times for an exam," Hodge recalls of his efforts to enter the Navy.

So Hodge remained state-side, lending what he could to the war effort. He, like Maxine's father, went to work building parts for military aircraft at Briggs in Evansville. He married his sweetheart, Loma, in February 1944.

Hodge was living in Crittenden County on V-E Day. He said big celebrations were fitting for larger cities, but observances locally were more subdued.

"There was not any organized celebration," he recalls. "Everyone was celebrating in their own way."

One reason, he suspects, is the great loss of life from Crittenden County endured during the war. Almost 50 men from Crittenden County, like Maxine's cousin, would be killed in the war. Most died on the battlefields of Europe or North Africa.

"We lost a lot of men from this county," Hodge said. "Most were my friends."

George Combs Jr. and Marvin Martin are just two of the close friends Hodge lost to the war. Of more than 16 million Americans who served during the war, 418,000-plus were killed.

Ethel Tucker, a sailor's wife during the war, was working in Crane, Ind., as the head of records at a naval aviation ammunition depot when victory in Europe was declared. She heard the news over the radio.

"We were all excited to death," she said.

Ethel's sister, Gertrude Stout, and their mother, Lizzie, were also living at the time in the south-central Indiana town of Crane. Gertrude worked with Ethel at the depot, and they soon left out for northern Indiana to celebrate with their sister-in-law, Imogene Stout.

"Everybody was in good humor," Ethel recalls. "It seems like we had banners we waved out the car windows as we were going up there."

By way of marriage to men in the military, Ethel and Imogene had a vested interest in the war and were especially elated at the thought of the war coming to a close.

Imogene's husband, Howard, had been injured as a soldier in Europe and was still overseas on V-E Day. Meantime, Ethel's husband, Thomas, was aboard the hospital ship USS Sanctuary in the Pacific. Both men would make it home to restart life with their young wives.

On Friday, V-E Day will be commemorated around the world. There are few left to tell the tale of that monumental day. But for anyone willing to listen, it's the heart behind the words, not the details, that make the story.
